walks & WATERFALLS

Tamborine National Park offers a smorgasbord of landscapes and environments to explore across its diverse range of forest vegetation types. This popular park provides an essential wildlife refuge from surrounding urban development where you can see red-necked pademelons as they bound across the forest floor, large land mullets basking in the sunlight, a plethora of birdlife including the powerful mimicry of the near-threatened Albert's lyrebird, stumble upon freshwater biodiversity throughout trickling creeks and pools, and keep an eye out for bats, owls and gliders amongst old growth trees.

The Witches Falls section of the park was declared in 1908, making it Queensland's first national park. Over the years additional reserves have been declared and today the park is made up of 14 sections of land and there are now 6 park sections with walks to explore.

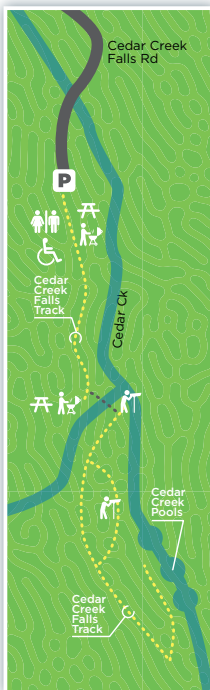

The Knoll Section

Length: 2.6km return
Time: Allow 1 hour
Grade: Easy

This pristine section of the park is accessed by Knoll Road. See the amazing views to Flinders Peak and Brisbane from the picnic area or take the walk through flooded gums and piccabeen groves to Cameron Falls.

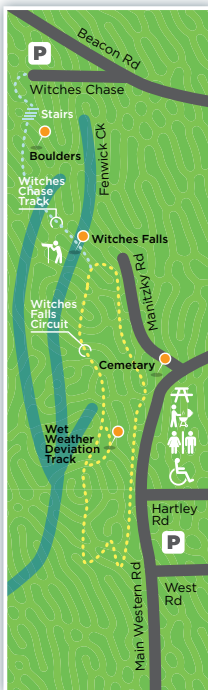

Cedar Creek Section

Length: 900m return
Time: Allow 30 min
Grade: Easy

One of the favourites, especially in summer as swimming is allowed in some of the rock pools. Pack the picnic hamper, towel and adore this section of paradise. Glass is not allowed in any section of the park and please take your rubbish with you.

Witches Falls Section

Length: 3.1km return
Time: Allow 1 hour
Grade: Moderate

This section was first declared in 1908, heralding it as Queensland's first national park. The walk starts from the commemorative shelter, down the mountain through an open forest of banksia trees and into rainforest with giant strangler figs and past lagoons. The waterfall only flows after recent rain and is best viewed from the lookout platform, accessed via a 200m detour from the main circuit.

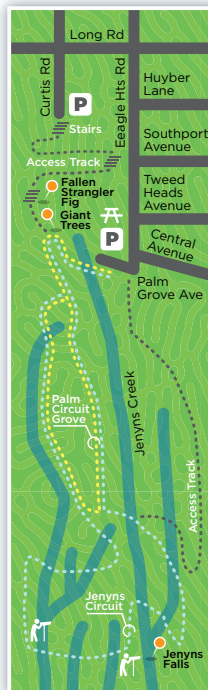

Curtis Falls/Joalah Section

Length: 1.1km return
Time: Allow 30 min
Grade: Easy

Take the short, enchanting walk to Curtis Falls. Look for orchids and staghorns in the canopy above. The falls flow nearly all year round and while the rock pool looks a great place to swim, please don't. It is home to an important glow worm colony. Continue on to the Lower Creek Circuit from here which makes a 2km return walk.

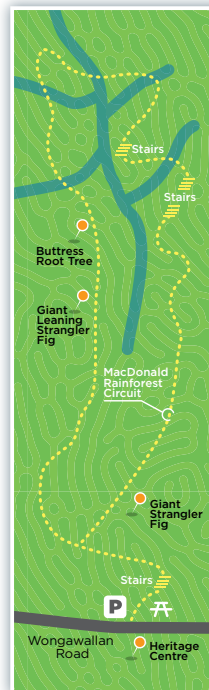

Palm Grove Section

Length: 2.6km return.
Time: Allow 1 hour
Grade: Easy

A lesser visited walk, this section of the park can be accessed from either Palm Grove Road or Curtis Falls Road. Your track weaves amongst towering palms, giant gums, hoop pines and ancient cycads. Look for fascinating fungi.

Macdonald Section

Length: 1.4km return
Time: Allow 35 min
Grade: Easy

A relatively flat loop this walk is particularly popular for bird watchers as it meanders through the rainforest.

Tamborine Mountain Heritage Centre 10

STEP back in time when you enter the Tamborine Mountain Heritage Centre.

It is run by the Mountain's Historical Society and features a small historic village, depicting life on the mountain during the late 1800s and early 1900s.

There is a general store, complete with a barber's chair and a haberdashery. Next door is the blacksmith's shop which adjoins the original Jenyn's family dairy, one of the earliest on the mountain. A slab cottage has been rebuilt on the site and features original furniture from the era.

One of the first churches to be erected on the mountain has also been moved in and restored within the centre's grounds. It contains dioramas of the mountain's history as well as extensive displays of fashions from the early 1900s.

A large working model of the Curtis Water Wheel shows visitors how early sawmills were powered.

55-57 Wongawallan Rd, Eagle Heights · Open hours: Saturday, Sunday and Public Holidays 10.00am - 3.00pm (or by appointment).
